New Stays in New Orleans: 1/3

JoAnn Greco

Once the headquarters of the Queen & Crescent Railroad, this 196-room references both its transportation bones and its New Orleans heritage. “Silhouettes” of old jazz greats (in reality, they’re crafted from photos) add a nifty touch to the calm gray-and-white scheme of the guest rooms, while the cosy bar, the Whiskey Room, is redolent of the luxe fabrics – wool, leather – once found in Victorian trains.
